How it Works

Comfy connects to the existing Building Management System (BMS).

Comfy is the first app to connect occupants to the system that controls air flow in most commercial buildings.

Employees log in and make a request to warm or cool their space.

Comfy immediately sends a 10-minute stream of warm or cool air to the requested zone.

Machine learning optimizes the workplace based on people's preferences.

Comfy's patented algorithms recognize patterns and automatically tune temperature settings.
